PONTOÓN BEACH — A petitioner seeking a zoning change in Pontoon Beach received an answer Tuesday evening, after six weeks of waiting.

Actually, he received two answers.

The Village Board first voted to uphold a zoning board recommendation to deny the seesaion, the trustees reconsidered the proposal and granted the zoning change.

David L. Jones, of MIC Associates, had asked Oct. 25 for a zoning change from general business to single-family residential of the proposal and seesaion, the seesaion, the seesaion the grounds there were already too many apart.

On Nov. 13, the issue came before the Village Board. During discussion on the matter, Trustee Bob Douglas saud the area is in a tax increment financing (TIF) district, and he was not sure the board could change the Part of the procedure for becoming a TIF district is the delineation of a specific development plan. The plan for Chouteau Trace, where the zoning change is sought, originally Jones' request was tabled until Village attorney Keith Jensen could provide a legal opinion on the matter.

At the meeting Tuesday, Jensen provided legal opinion the matter, and the received the services of the procedure for an amendment of the redevelopment plan to repair provided the request on requirement for an amendment of the redevelopment plan to resone an indi-

Dear Editor:

Local attorney Leo Konzen, a counselor in the Community Merit Badge program of Cahokia Mounds Boy Scout Council, recently assisted Boy Scout Troop 103 of Holy Family Catholic Church in its pursuit of the badge. The purpose of the badge is to enhance the awareness of youth in the concerns and needs of the community. As a last project, Konzen gave each of the boys 10 minutes to write a letter to the editor expressing their concerns on any topic. He then submitted the final product to us. The result is shown below.

I would like to complain about the way penell sharpeners are the way penell sharpeners are the sharpeners and the sharpeners are the sharpeners. It was the sharpeners, like when they put them in and dull the blades.

I think that penell sharpening abuse affects life in the worst way. An example is when I go to sharpen my penell and the sharpener eats it. This aggravates me present the sharpener acts it. This aggravates me full the sharpener would be a better place if penell and destroying trees by making penells. I think the world would be a better place if penell sharpener abuse would stop.

Madison looks like mine field

To the editor:

To the editor:

This-Madison Avenue construction is getting entirely out of hand. It feels like a mine field when you drive over it, and it's taking too long to finish it up. Well, it is too late to complain about it now, but I think it's costing entirely too much of the nor more more in the streets and not, in the fight with pollution! It's fumny how the people have no say in making decisions in city improvements. These are my feelings in the subject. Thank you.

Will when the road end?

To the editor:

To the editor:

I have heard about the Madison Avenue project, I heard that the project will last a long time. The project started three weeks ago, but if the project lasts as long as said, there will be problem. The work will last a long time, including the mid-winter season. Some of these days are too cold for the crew to do anything. Then will be wrecks, and a lot of people will get hurt.

Why couldn't the city wait 'til spring?

What "Predator 2" lacks in suspense and dialogue is compensated for in high-tech trauma and some evocative sets and sit und "Aliens." The action is bloody.

There is no way to tell the story of Madison's first century unless you cite their long tenures as mayor. Their combined service covered 60 of the 100 years.

Madison became a village in 1891 and will reach its centennial. will arrive in 18 days, year that will arrive in 18 days.

BORN IN 1875 in St. Louis County, Ferdinand A. Garesche led Madison for 32 years (1905-37) of its-51 years as a village (1891-1942).

R

In a short time, Madison's city government will be 49 years old (1942-91). Stephen A. Maeras was at the helm for 28 of those years (1942-70)

IN THE FLOWERY language popular a century ago, it was noted that Garesche 'serjoyed life under the careful grooming of his parents until he became 15 years of age.

SIX VEARS AFTER Madison-became a village, Garesche accepted a position as office bey with the Missouri Car & Foundry Company, in November 1887. It may have seemed like a lowly job, but it was one in which he could learn much and could get to know key officials. His faithful service with that company, which later shecame the American, Car & Foundry promotions, leading to the post of chief clerk.

HE WAS ELECTED as mayor (president of the village board of trustees) in November 1985. In 1997, he advanced to paymaster of American Car & Foundry's huge Madison plant, known as "the car shops" and located west of State Street.

Winter

the village election of 1907, Gar-esche was praised for the paving of four blocks of street and the laying of four miles of sidewalk.

CONSTRUCTION of the Madi-son Village Hall, establishment of a volunteer fire department and planting of 1,500 shade trees also were credited to Garesche in the early years of his admin-istration.

These were turbulent times, including the era when many workers who could not speak English immigrated to Madison. Taverns and churches multiplication of the rail car-shop employees lived in crowded boarding houses, sharing access

HE WAS NOMINATED by Illi-nois Democrats as their lieuten-ant governor candidate in 1924 but lost to the Republican nomi-

Although retiring as mayor in 1937, he continued his association with American Car & Foundry until his death in 1938.

Editorials Vote on funds realistically

"Be sure to block all tax increases. That's the ticket to getting re-elected." That may not be their official policy, but it's being adhered to by many Granite City aldermen as they eye the upcoming 1991 election.

it's being adhered to by many Granite City aldermen as they eye the upcoming 1991 election.

A "no new taxes" pledge can help one get elected, Americans have noticed. And it's not really a sin, especially in a home-rule city where there are few restraints on taxation other than officials' collective will power.

But as the city holds the line on real estate taxes, it cannot forever keep its balance on that "high wire" unless it figures out a way to limit expenditures.

It has committed itself to spending decisions that can lead to a $478.010 imbalance in the 1990-91 fiscal year, with additional "red ink" of $1,651,103 in 1991-92 and $2,559,859 in 1992-93. These are frightening projections.

Are we urging a big like in local taxes? No. But we do urge a realistic look at the city's needs. How essential are some of the scheduled expenses? Can the top-heavy load of programs be trimmed? Can't there be an intensified effort to resolve city employee unrest?

In launching or maintaining programs, it is important to take into account not only the initial year's burden but also the future costs.

take into account not only the initial year's burden but also the furre costs. Failure to do so is the kind of mistake Congress always seems to make, later finding out that good intentions are no substitute for sound planning. And keep in mind that thisian't Washington, D.C. Granite City can't run up trillion of dollars of debt, nor can it print its own money. Officials owe it to themselves and the public to consider both income and outgo—and to act accordingly. If added costs are unavoidable, money must be found to pay for them. But where there is no other, way to achieve a balance, some programs may need to be discontinued.

Happy story for holidays

It is necessary to report the news, both good and bad, in any season of the year, but it is a joy — particularly during the holiday season — to be able to report happy news like the outcome of the Tri-Cities Area United Way drive,

In looking back at the fall campaign last week, leaders smilingly noted the goal-topping, record-breaking final pledge total of $1,049,000.

They reported that the funds will be used for comprehensive emergency assistance, food programs, drug abuse prevention and Ireatment, rape and child sexual abuse care, domestic violence programs, pregnancy counseling, parent training, child care resources and referrals, day care, home health care, counseling, employment assistance, alternative education, foster care, adoptions, AIDS programs, adult-child surrogates, services to mentally retarded and emotionally disturbed, disaster relief, housing assistance, blood banks, comprehensive youth development, health research and information, health and safety training, participatory recreation, youth programs, venture grants, community services and help for military families.

That's a mighty long list. But, as United Way volunteers say, there is no limit to what we can accomplish when we all lend a hand.

Illinois Power Co. has been honored for its extensive recycling efforts with an award by the Illinois Recycling Association at its annual recycling conference Nov. 29-30 in Chicago.

"We are recognizing Illinois Power for its innovative corpo-rate recycling program," said Paul Kelly, administrative direc-tor for the recycling group. "Illinois Power drew our attention because it has gone well beyond the office paper recycling done by corporations to include many other areas of activity."

Some of those activities include: donating used wood poles to the Illinois Department of Conservation to make gates, fences and other projects; recycling waste concrete and asphalt, which is crushed and then mixed in with new material; collecting used motor oil and using it as a fuel source in gen-erating electricity; and fradition-al recycling efforts involving waste paper and aluminum cans.

"Our recycling program is a reporate-wide effort," said Lar-Brodsky, vice president of vironmental affairs for IP. He

"Drake made his decision and be has to live with it," said Althoff basketball coach Brad Harriman. "I wish him well, but I have no further comment on it.

A three-sport athlete, Marshall played his last basketball game for Althoff on Saturday Althoff tootball coach Glenn Schott indicated that the Crusader football program will survive.

"Drake had a fine football season for us and he should help season for us and he should help frantic City tremendously," said Schott. "Will we miss him? Only time will tell. But life goes on Dewis made his decision to power made his decision to wash him well at Grantie City. They've got in fine athlete."

Marshall, a safety would have been a prime candidate to quar-terback althoff next year and will likely be in the same spot with the Warriors. A guard in basketball, he becomes eligible to play for the Warriors on Jan, 9. He is also an infielder/pitcher in baseball.

Grapplers face tough SWC bout

By Dave Whaley Executive sports editor

The unbeaten record compiled by the Warrior wrestling team will be on the line in a tough match tonight. Granite City (3-0) travels to Belleville West (4-2) for a Southwestern Conference showdown. The Maroons already own solid wins over top-level programs such as Garbondale, McCluar North and Givic Memorial. There are a lot of good teams in the area his year, said veteran Maroon coach John welmeier. "We'll see most of welmeier."
